Law firm has prominent presence all throughout Texas

Wednesday July 29, 2009

FORT WORTH – The prominent law firm Linebarger Goggan Blair & Sampson, LLP has been named on of the Top Companies for Women in 2009. The distinction was made by PINK magazine which noted that more companies are recognizing the importance of women’s advancement in the workplace. Linebarger Goggan Blair & Sampson, LLP joins an elite group of honorees.

The magazine selected its honorees based on women’s high representation in positions of power among top earners and by examining management’s commitment to its female staff. The magazine also took into consideration the life/work balance in terms of giving women equal opportunity for a rewarding life away from the office.

Linebarger Goggan Blair & Sampson, LLP is the largest law firm in the United States that dedicates its practice to the collection of governmental receivables and delinquent taxes. The company has more than 1,500 employees and more than 1,000 are women. The firm carries a 90% retention rate of executive level women.

“The recognition by Pink is such an honor but not a surprise. My personal experience with this firm has been that advancement and opportunity come with merit and dedication,” said Barbara Williams, Capital Partner in the Fort Worth Office and member of the Firm’s national Management Committee. “This is a glaring contrast to my experience with other firms where, as a young attorney, I was turned away because I had two young children. Our firm didn’t shatter the glass ceiling, it just never had one.”

Linebarger joins an impressive list of companies being honored, including American Express, Capital One, KPMG, Liz Claiborne, Manpower, MetLife, Turner Broadcasting System, and Wal-Mart.

In Fort Worth, the law firm is a top collector of delinquent property taxes and other governmental receivables.
